

Sister Motion is a creative production agency with film at its heart.

As an independent, women-owned, and diverse supplier, we are agile and nimble, providing a truly bespoke and personal service. With over 20 years of cross-sector production experience, we combine creativity, strategy, and technical excellence to deliver first-class production support for any screen, duration, or platform, from a quick TikTok to a TV commercial.

We help brands and their partner agencies connect with influential female consumers by crafting relatable, social-first content. We excel at capturing unscripted, candid stories from real people, influencers, and A-list talent, creating a safe and relaxed space for them to share their unfiltered opinions. We also create fun conceptual content that reflects a brand's unique personality and values.

Based in the UK, we work internationally, drawing on our talent database of over 200 women from all backgrounds and production disciplines to provide bespoke creative talent to deliver on your brief.

We're not just skilled professionals; we're also approachable, collaborative, and genuinely great people to have on your team.
